

Proverbs

Cut on the dotted lines as indicated. Be sure there are enough proverb halves for all participants.

If you learn a language...	...you can cross a river.
Trust in Allah...	...but tie your camel.
If every day the bucket goes to the well...	...the bottom will drop out.
We do not inherit the land from our parents...	...we borrow it from our children.
A bird in the hand...	...is worth two in the bush.
A log in the river...	...will not turn into a crocodile.
Little by little...	...a bird builds its nest.
Bit by bit...	...the egg sprouts legs and learns to walk.
Knowledge is like a garden...	...if it cannot be cultivated, it cannot be harvested.
The wise adapt themselves to circumstances...	...as water moulds itself to the pitcher.
A turtle can't walk if it...	...doesn't push its head outside its shell.
Proverbs are...	...the daughters of experience.
Cross the river in a crowd...	...and the crocodile won't eat you.
The person who is being carried...	...doesn't realize how far town is.
When elephants fight...	...it's the grass that suffers.
He who cannot dance...	...will say the drum is bad.
If spider webs unite...	...they can topple the lion.